Green Apple Award

Angus Fire has been awarded gold at the 2016 Green Apple Awards, for Environmental Best Practice. The gold award, in the Science and Technology category, recognises Angus Fire's development of JetFoam™, the world's first ever fluorine-free firefighting foam that is able to film-form on aviation fuels. As part of Angus Fire's ongoing programme of research and development to provide innovative products with increased performance, lower costs and reduced environmental impact.

The Green Apple Environment Award is accredited by The Royal Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures and Commerce, RSA and is run by The Green Organisation – an independent, non-political, non-activist, non-profit environment group dedicated to recognising, rewarding and promoting environmental best practice around the world.
